

2018 A.L. Carlisle Child Advocacy Award Nomination

The A.L. Carlisle Child Advocacy Award is presented by the Coalition for Juvenile Justice (CJJ) annually to an individual who has made outstanding contributions to youth, to juvenile justice improvement efforts, or in the broader area of juvenile justice and delinquency prevention concerns.

The following criteria are among those used to select the award recipient:

- Has been a role model for youth
- Assisted in passing legislation to assist justice-involved youth
- Positively contributed to the judicial system to assist youth
- Developed or implemented a pioneering youth program or initiative
- Contributed to improvements in the area of delinquency prevention
- Served as an outstanding juvenile justice worker/practitioner
- Spent many years contributing to juvenile justice improvement efforts
- Made a significant impact on juvenile justice system reform

The award is named in honor of A.L. Carlisle, the founder of CJJ. Starting out as a volunteer activist dedicated to the nation's most troubled and vulnerable youth, she eventually served as the first CJJ National Chair from 1979 - 1987.

The saying goes that, in its formative years, "the National Coalition was run out of A.L.'s kitchen in Maine!"
