OJJDP’s Online University

OJJDP’s Online University provides the juvenile justice field with a one-stop shop to training and technical assistance (TTA) resources developed by OJJDP-funded TTA projects and OJJDP partners, including foundations and other federal agencies.

Centralized Access

- Gain access to high quality TTA that is grounded in research and evidence-based practices.
- Find multiple forms of TTA, including online courses, classroom trainings, Webinars, toolkits, and publications.
- Locate TTA resources on multiple topics on one website.
- Identify TTA providers related to specific areas of juvenile justice and delinquency prevention.
- View training and resources even after a TTA provider’s grant or contract has ended.
- Explore the depth of work being done by OJJDP-funded projects, its partners and other federal agencies.

Collaboration

- TTA providers make their services and products accessible to larger audiences.
- Visitors are linked directly to the training event registration or website.
- TTA providers can easily identify other TTA providers to exchange materials and learn from one another.
- The Online University Calendar publicizes upcoming events and helps prevent scheduling conflicts.
